Department Introduction

The Department of Fire Administration (소방행정학과) trains fire policy and administration experts who help protect citizens' lives and property.

Department Description

The curriculum covers fire organization and policy, fire administration law, urban disaster prevention, and national disaster management, alongside technical fire fundamentals such as fire suppression and fire investigation. Graduates or students who complete 45 credits of fire-related coursework are eligible for the special recruitment track to become firefighters, and the department also prepares students for the civil-service career track in disaster prevention (방재안전 직렬).
