Department Introduction

The Department of Distribution & Logistics offers a broad curriculum that builds integrated competency in distribution and logistics, alongside a practical, trend-driven curriculum that produces experts ready to work in the field.

Department Description

The department's goal is to produce distribution-logistics experts closely attuned to real industry needs, supported by three specialist tracks: Integrated Distribution-Logistics, Global Trade Logistics, and Customer-Centered Digital Distribution Service. Students are prepared for the national Logistics Manager and Distribution Manager certification exams through dedicated preparation classes, field visits, and a distribution-logistics camp.
