Department Introduction

The Department of Child Studies trains early-childhood care experts through an ecological approach spanning children, families, and the educational environment. The curriculum combines theory in child development, childcare, and early childhood education with hands-on childcare fieldwork.

Department Description

The curriculum is aligned with the Level-2 Childcare Teacher certification standard strengthened since 2017, including nine in-person courses, plus a dedicated track for the Childcare Teacher for Children with Disabilities certification. The department also offers courses for training all-day care specialists and a Childcare Teacher Competency Enhancement program, responding to Korea's growing demand for childcare services.
